Firefly watching at Sungai Kerian in Nibong Tebal is one of the places in this northern region where you can witness the sight of millions of firefly flashing in synchrony; it will be an experience of a lifetime.

Firefly light produced under a nervous control within special cells which are richly supplied with air tubes. Only the light from the visible spectrum is emitted.

Fireflies do not bite, do not have pincers, do not carry disease and in fact are quite harmless. They cannot even fly fast. They have a life span of two months.

You will be taken on a boat ride along the Sungai Kerian River where the firefly inhabits around the branches of the "Berembang" trees along the riverbank. It is truly a magnificent sight to the eyes of the beholder.

Sungai Kerian is also a birding area, resident and migratory birds. These include shrikes, kingfishers, herons, bee-eaters, water cocks and many species of waders. The migratory seasons starts some time in mid September and lasts till April the following year.
